Kosta Mumcuogla, PhD (Israel)

President, International Biotherapy Society

Jointly Sponsored by:

The University of Cincinnati

The BTER (BioTherapeutics Education & Research) Foundation

The Hope of Healing Foundation

The premiere event in biotherapy

First time in the U.S.!

At the Hilton Los Angeles/Universal City
Universal City, California, USA

This conference is specially designed for physicians, veterinarians, nurses, biologists, and other scientists and students who work in or are interested in biotherapy. Biotherapy is the use of living organisms to treat or diagnose medical illness. Biotherapeutic modalities address some of the most difficult and expensive medical problems of our day, and not only effectively address these needs, but do so in financially and environmentally responsible ways. The United Kingdom, Germany, Turkey, Israel and South Korea have hosted one or more of these conferences, and this is the first in the U.S. An international distinguished faculty will educate clinicians and the public about biotherapeutics and advance the cause of biotherapeutics use in medicine.
